TRAGEDY AT CARLIN'S SPRINGS.—As stated yesterday, James A. Newsom, for a long time one of the doorkeepers of the House of Representatives, was fatally assaulted about 11 o'clock Thursday night at the residence of Mrs. Margaret Rose Carter, at Carlin's Springs, by Louis Berry, the twenty-year-old son of Henry Berry, a fresco painter at the Capitol. Berry's weapon was a baseball bat. Newsom was struck several times on the head, fell unconscious on his bed and died about 9 o'clock yesterday morning. Newsom and his wife and a pretty woman named Mrs. Marquett and her daughter had been boarding with Mrs. Carter during the summer. Newsom was a heavy drinker, and soon after going to the country became intoxicated. When under the influence of liquor he seem to have been troublesome in more ways than one. Thursday he left the ladies at Carlin's Springs and went to Washington, where he purchased a quantity of goods and drank freely. He returned to Carlin's Springs in the evening with a large quantity of fruit, several bottles of soft drinks for the ladies and four bottles of whiskey. During the evening he became greatly intoxicated and created considerable disturbance in the usually quiet neighborhood and peaceful home of the Carters. After supper he abused and assaulted his wife, and Mrs. Newsom decided to leave her husband. Accordingly the trunks were packed, and accompanied by Edward Carter, a young son of the landlady, the ill-treated wife, Mrs. Marquett and daughter were driven to Washington and took up quarters at the Emrich House. About this time Lewis Berry called at the Carter house to spend the evening with Miss Emma Carter, to whom he had been paying attention. Newsom, in the meantime, continued to drink, and kept the house in an uproar. Several times he is said to have left his room, the parlor on the first floor, and in a half dressed state, staggered through the house yelling and cursing. Mrs. Carter and her daughter were badly frightened, and as Berry was the only other male person in the house with the exception of M. A. Carter's young sons, he was urged to remain until a later hour than usual. It is understood that Berry conducted Newsom to his room twice during the evening and endeavored to pacify the intoxicated man, but all efforts failed. Finally, it is said, Newsom broke out of his room, and in a half nude state entered the room in which Mrs. Carter and her daughter were sitting. Berry then seized the man, pushed him from the room, and toward his own apartments. As he passed through the hall he picked up a baseball bat belonging to one of the Carter boys. Just how the murder occurred is not known at this time. It is said that while in the room Newsom jumped on the bed, made an attempt to seize a weapon of some kind and said: "Here's something that will fix you." Berry then attacked Newsom, dealing him a heavy blow in the side with the bat. The second blow was more forcible and landed on the left side of Newsom's head, inflicting a gash about four inches long and fracturing the skull. Newsom fell on his bed unconscious, and although medical attendance was promptly summoned, nothing could be done for the injured man, and he died, as stated above, at 9 o'clock yesterday morning without recovering consciousness. One thing that controverts this story of the killing is the fact that the door leading into Newsom's room was broken apparently from the outside. That there was a terrible struggle is apparent on all sides, but just how the affair was brought about is considerable of a mystery. Berry left the Carter house soon after the occurrence, and up to an early hour this morning had not been seen. An inquest was held at the home of Mrs. Carter yesterday afternoon by Coroner Birch, who lives near Rosslyn, and the verdict rendered was that Newsom came to his death from wounds inflicted by a ball bat in the hands of Lewis Berry. Although the gossip about the neighborhood tends to show that Berry acted in self-defense and was justified in striking Newsom, the jury did not exonerate him. The body of Newsom was taken to Georgetown and turned over to an undertaker. The deceased was from Memphis and was about 30 years of age.

Berry some time after the shooting gave himself up to the authorities and made arrangements for his defense. A preliminary examination was held at Carlin's Springs to-day when Col. F. L. Smith appeared as counsel for Berry. The examination was in progress at 10 o'clock.

TRAGEDY AT A BRICK YARD.—Frank Blue, a fourteen-year-old colored boy, was instantly killed by Thomas Bowman, also colored, about 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at William G. Walker's brick yard, on the Columbia road, near Fort Runyon, in Alexandria county. Bowman escaped and ran down the road toward this city. Bowman, it seems had provocation for his act. He is the foreman of Walker's brick yard, and yesterday morning Mr. Walker told him to discharge one of two colored boys who were working there. During the day it became noised about among the employees that one of the boys was to be dismissed, and considerable interest was manifested as to which one it would be. About 4 o'clock Bowman told Blue that his services would not be needed longer. The boy became very angry and declared that Bowman had shown partiality to the other boy. At this Bowman flashed up, and it is said that he treated the discharged boy surlily. Blue stepped back a few paces and commenced throwing stones and bricks at the foreman. Bowman paid no attention to the missiles at first, but finally one struck him and he became very angry. He stopped, picked up a heavy stone, and with an oath threw it at a young Blue. The stone struck the lad squarely in the back of the neck, breaking the spinal column. The boy fell and his fellow-employees ran to him and found that he was dead. As soon as Bowman realized that the boy was dead, he, fearing, perhaps, that the men (who are mostly colored) would make some demonstration, ran over into West's brick yard, adjoining, and hid among the debris there. A few moments later he was seen hurrying down the road toward this city. Bowman has been making his home in Alexandria county for some time. He has not been arrested.

Bowman was brought to this city about 2 o'clock this evening by Constable Green and lodged in jail, having been committed by Justice Pollard. He says that when he struck Blue he had no idea of hurting him. Blue, he says, had been cursing him and had finally struck him with a brick, when he, Bowman, picked up a brick and struck Blue. When he heard that he had killed the boy he became frightened and ran off. He stayed in the woods all night and this morning went to an officer and gave himself up. Justice Pollard held a preliminary examination and committed him to jail.

THE NEW CITY COUNCIL.—The recently elected members of the City Council will enter into office at twelve o'clock Monday when the two branches of that body will meet and organize. So far as known there will be no opposition to the present officers and it is more than probable that Mr. W. H. Marbury will be re-elected president of the Aldermen. Mr. Hubert Snowden president of the Common Council and Messrs. L. H. Thompson and J. T. Johnson clerks of those boards respectively. As Mayor-elect J. G. Beckham is absent from the city there will be no inauguration of the mayor, and by an understanding with Mr. Marbury, president of the Aldermen, whose business engagements in Washington will prevent him from acting, Mr. Snowden, president of the Common Council, will act as mayor until Mr. Beckham's return, which, it is believed, will be in a short time. As heretofore stated Mr. Beckham qualified and gave bond before Judge Norton previous to leaving for Europe.

POLICE COURT.—Justice Thompson presiding.—The following cases were disposed of this morning:

Charles Lee, arrested by Officer Tiger for being drunk on the street, was ordered to leave the city.

Aaron Jackson, colored, arrested by Officers Beach, and Young on suspicion of burglarizing the store of Marion Lee, was sent on to the grand jury.

Ida Freeman, colored, arrested by Officers Jones and McCuen for escaping from the workhouse, was sent back to that institution.

Alice Kitts, colored, charged with maintaining a nuisance on her premises, was dismissed.

Jordan Carter, colored, charged with stealing fifty cents from a colored woman, was made to return the money.

Martha Washington, colored, thought to be the owner of the clothing found on Shuter's Hill recently, was dismissed.

Night Report.—Last night was partly cloudy and mild. Three prisoners were at the station house.

RECEIVER NORTON OVERRULED.—An order was issued by Justice Cox, in Washington yesterday, in the suit of James E. P. Ramsay and others against the Fidelity Building and Loan Association. It was on the petition of Ada E. Griffith, filed April 30, touching a loan to her of about $1,000. Mr. G. Hatley Norton, the receiver for the association, filed exceptions to the petition and both were referred to the auditor, who overruled Mr. Norton's exceptions. The court sustains the auditor's report, save that part which allows Mrs. Griffith's request for $52, or 80 per cent. of the amount paid by her before the loan was made to her. She is directed to pay the association $866.58, when she will be released from obligation and allowed to share in the distribution to the stockholders.

THE PROPOSED NEW CHURCH.—Plans for the proposed new M. E. Church South are on exhibition in the vestibule of that church. They have been prepared by Mr. C. L. Harding, Washington architect. None has been adopted as yet, and they are exhibited to show the plans for a church with an auditorium, Sunday school, infant class, pastor's study, &c., on one floor. Numbers of persons have examined the plans during the day, and they have been pronounced practical by many.
